

CELEBRATE SOUTH KOREAN CINEMA

Learn About the Past, Present and Future of the Korean Peninsula

Panel

Tuesday, Nov. 8, 7:30 pm

The Recital Hall at the King Center, 855 Lawrence Way, Denver

Life in the World's Most Secretive Country: North Korea: Join us for an enlightening panel discussion about the struggles that North Koreans face today, both inside and outside the country, and what that means for the future of the Korean peninsula. Speakers include Christopher Hill, former U.S. Ambassador to South Korea; South Korean Consul General Jeong Gwan Lee; Ved Nanda, international law professor at the University of Denver, Myung Oak Kim, author of the "New Korea;" Phillip Ryu, who helped relatives escape North Korea; and North Korean refugees now living in the Denver area.

Reception

Wednesday, Nov. 9, 8 pm

Filmmaker's Lounge in the Tivoli Center

Join us for a celebration of Korean cinema and the local Korean community. Korean food and drinks will be served.
