RASHOMON (based on the stories of Ryunokuke Akutagawa) is a study in perception and deception. The audience will be challenged to uncover the truth as four people give different accounts of the same crime. When a man is murdered and his wife is assaulted by a roving bandit, a beguiling mystery begins to unfold. Brimming with action and secrets, Rashomon is a 12th Century Japanese crime drama about the quest for justice and the complexities of human nature.

“Human beings are unable to be honest with themselves about themselves. They cannot talk about themselves without embellishing. This script portrays such human beings – the kind who cannot survive without lies to make them feel they are better people than they really are.” – Akira Kurosawa
