

ARTIST LILY HAVEY PRESENTS:

At Colorado College's Gaylord Hall in Worner Student Center

AN ARTIST'S VIEW OF LIFE AT THE AMACHE INTERNMENT CAMP DURING WORLD WAR II

(The unconstitutional detention of Japanese Americans during WWII)

At 6 PM on Tuesday, September 21, 2010

A FREE EVENT TO THE PUBLIC — EVERYBODY WELCOME!

President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed Executive Order 9066 on February 19, 1942, that resulted in the unconstitutional incarceration of American citizens of Japanese descent into so-called "Internment Camps." One of those camps was here in Colorado at Amache, near Granada. Los Angeles native LILY HAVEY was one of those American citizens who were interned at desolate Amache where she and her family lived in a 20 x 40 foot room in a barracks shared by five other families in a complex guarded by armed U.S. soldiers.

Renowned artist LILY HAVEY will show slides of her own drawings depicting life at Amache as she discusses her childhood memories of the internment camp.
